Course PC-3: Hazard Identification and Risk Assessment Course

A fundamental concept in managing occupational health and safety (and also in many WorkSafeBC's regulations) is the recognition, assessment and control of hazards. The process is commonly referred to as Hazard Identification or Risk Assessment. But how do you determine what is a hazard and how do you find hidden hazards before someone gets hurt? This course will assist you in recognizing and rating the severity of workplace hazards and explore common strategies for controlling them. A great course for supervisors, managers and safety committee members.

Fees: $295.00 (register by Mar. 28, 2023) $345.00 (after Mar. 28, 2023) GST extra

Course PC-4: Supervisors Safety Training Course

Supervisors are arguably the most influential people in preventing workplace incidents and injuries. But only if they understand their key role and have the specific skills needed to follow through on that understanding. If they don't or worse, have never been taught how to supervisor for safety as part of the job, then accidents and injuries nearly always follow. This jam-packed one day course guides new or experienced supervisors through the fundamentals they need to ensure safety on the job.

Fees: $295.00 (register by Mar. 28, 2023) $345.00 (after Mar. 28, 2023) GST Extra
